

Task 1:Cloud

It is a network of remote servers that store, process, and deliver content and services over the internet. It allows users to access computing resources on demand, such as storage, software, and applications, without needing to manage physical servers or software on their own devices

And we did the installation and learn basis of jenkins mongodb nosql sucessfully